BRIDGING THEORY AND PRACTICE

Our experience at the Faculty of Architecture, University of Lisbon
- Education, research and practice in partnership with NGOs, public and private stakeholders;
- Contributing to inter-related activities in a cross-border, trans-disciplinary approach.

Programmes in Urbanism
- Master in Architecture/Urbanism: Urban Design and Planning and Diploma Units
- Doctoral Program in Urbanism: courses, e.g. - Contemporary Urbanism; Research Laboratory III, Metropolitan Territories
- Other advanced post-graduate programmes

Workshops and Conferences
- From splinters to parks, 2nd [Urban + Landscape] design international workshop, Lisbon, 7-10 May 2013, Faculty of Architecture, University of Lisbon, endorsed by the ISOCARP/ YPP – Bridging Theory and Practice Programme.
- Ambivalent landscapes, Conference, Lisbon, December 2012, Faculty of Architecture, University of Lisbon, including the support and meeting of AESOP’s TG Public Spaces-Public Cultures.

BRIDGING THE DIVIDE BETWEEN ACADEMIC, RESEARCH, INSTITUTIONAL AND STAKEHOLDERS NETWORKS

The workshop stood as an opportunity for the increase of the cooperation between European countries and institutions, especially in common areas of interest such as urban planning and development in environmentally sensitive areas.

New issues and challenges arise in the context of emerging paradigms of urban development.

- Scarcity and shrinkage in post-industrial contexts
- Extensive and rapid growth in emerging world economies
- Changing demands facing energy, food production and mobility and ICT networking

A renewed research and design agenda for urban planning.

Open space and landscape sensed as pivotal.

Looking for new scenarios:
- A global strategy, taking into account the role of Monsanto as a metropolitan park surrounded by intensively built areas;
- The potential of complex systems of open space and infrastructure as the frame for a designed proposal
- The shaping of large scale landscape features and its interface with metropolitan fabrics and public space.

CHANGING FIELDS
• The role of the forest park of Monsanto within the context of the city and metropolis of Lisbon.
• Landscape and cultural heritage, their diversified activities and roles as a vital open space
• The motto to bringing together innovative ideas regarding the forest park future.
