Young Planning Professionals Program

The Young Planning Professionals Program was initiated in 1991 in order to provide unique opportunities to YPPs to share their knowledge, skills and experiences in an attempt to resolve complex and multi-dimensional planning issues. Since then, the YPP Program has become a crucial component of ISOCARP's dedication to the promotion and enhancement of the planning profession. The objective is to provide emerging professionals with an opportunity to work in a multi-cultural setting and share their experiences.

YPP Workshops bring together young planners from all parts of the world. The workshops are brief, but very intense, brainstorming planning and design exercises in which our young colleagues work on real-life planning problems in the host city in an area defined by the local authority or university departments.

Mission

Workshop was intend to function as a platform for Young Planning Professionals (YPPs) from various parts of the world to get associated with principles and emerging ways of thinking. At the same time, the 13 international workshop delegates will be joined by 12 number of Polish YPPs. The workshop provided all participants with the opportunity for exposure to different schools of thought and planning techniques used across the world.

The workshop was intended to become a point of reference for further discussions and advancement of planning research and practice within the field of housing. This has also been justified by the fact that nowadays provision of various types of urban housing is a vital issue for many cities within Central and Eastern Europe and other parts of the globe.
